Privacy Policy

The privacy of your personal information is important to us:

1. Why are we asking so many questions?

We collect your personal information to ensure that we are able to provide you with the products and services appropriate to your needs.

Financial Planning is the exercise of:

- a) understanding a client's financial goals;
- b) gathering all the details of a client's financial position;
- c) analysing all the issues and options which will form the basis of any recommendations;
- d) the adviser providing advice and a recommendation, whilst also making all the required disclosures;

- f) the adviser and the client agreeing as to what level of further review and action is required to ensure the advice and recommendations continue to achieve all identified financial goals.

The process of providing financial advice may seem simple, but it is the result of carefully gathering the right information to be able to assess your financial goals.

This can be achieved through completion or updating a previously completed Fact Finder. A fact finder will help identify what is relevant and also helps to prioritise any action required. We aim to ensure that the personal information that we retain about you, is accurate, complete and up to date.

If you provide us with incomplete or inaccurate information, we may not be able to provide you with the products or services you are seeking.

The law also requires us to collect personal information e.g. The Corporations Act 2001 requires us to identify a person's needs, objectives and financial circumstances to be able to provide advice; and the Anti Money Laundering and Counter Terrorism Financing Act 2006 ("AML/CTF Act") (Cth) requires us to identify all clients and to conduct identity verification checks.
